

AEGIS Business Brokers, LLC operates as a business intermediary on this transaction which creates what is sometimes referred to as a dual agency. This means our primary fiduciary duty is to the transaction. In this situation, AEGIS is the Accredited Business Intermediary in this transaction representing both the buyer and seller equally in a limited capacity. The transaction fee is paid for by the seller.

As a general rule, dual agents stick to facts about the business, not the people. A dual agent cannot share information about the seller or buyer's motivations, price thresholds or personal matters with the other party because of the limited allegiance the agent has to both parties in the transaction. Any disclosure of this type requires the agent to receive written permission prior to disclosure in all cases.
